TERRACOTTA WARRIORS TAKE A FINAL BOW AT BOWERS MUSEUM

After a triumphant run that exceeded all attendance and engagement goals, World of the Terracotta Warriors: New Archaeological Discoveries in Shaanxi in the 21st Century will conclude its successful engagement at Bowers Museum on Sunday, October 19, 2025. The exhibition will next travel to the Houston Museum of Natural Science, bringing the extraordinary legacy of China's First Emperor to audiences in Texas.

Presented in collaboration with the Shaanxi Cultural Heritage Promotion Center and organized by the Shaanxi Provincial Cultural Heritage Administration, the Emperor Qinshihuang's Mausoleum Site Museum, and Bowers Museum, this landmark exhibition featured over 110 newly unearthed treasures, many making their North American debut.

Since opening on May 24, 2025, the exhibition has drawn strong media attention and community enthusiasm — not only for its sweeping presentation of 21st-century archaeological discoveries from ancient China, but also for its sold-out educational programs led by world-renowned scholars. Over the course of its run, Bowers presented a six-part distinguished lecture series featuring experts such as Dr. Lothar von Falkenhausen, Dr. Anthony Barbieri, Dr. Min Li, Dr. Feng Li, and culminating in the closing lecture by Dr. Eugene Y. Wang of Harvard University. The museum also offered exclusive programs with Dr. Tianlong Jiao, Bowers Museum's Chief Curator and curator of World of the Terracotta Warriors, whose personal insights into the latest excavations in Shaanxi Province deepened visitors' understanding of China's First Emperor and his world.

"This exhibition has surpassed every goal we set," said Dr. Sean O'Harrow, President of Bowers Museum. "The public's response has been extraordinary. Visitors were captivated not only by the iconic warriors but also by the newly uncovered artifacts that shed light on China's earliest civilizations."

Guests have just days left to experience these remarkable artifacts before they leave Southern California. The exhibition's final day is Sunday, October 19, 2025, with doors closing at 4 PM. Timed-entry tickets and program reservations are available now at bowers.org/warriors. Advance purchase is strongly encouraged, as the closing weekend is expected to sell out.

Final Weekend Events:
October 18 | 4–5 PM Curator's Tour with Dr. Tianlong Jiao – SOLD OUT An exclusive behind-the-scenes tour led by Bowers Museum's Curator of Asian Art, Dr. Tianlong Jiao, offering final insights into the exhibition's rarest and most important pieces.

October 19 | 1:30 PM Distinguished Closing Lecture: The First Emperor's Chariots – Where Are They Going? Presented by Dr. Eugene Y. Wang, the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Professor of Asian Art at Harvard University, this lecture explores the mysterious bronze chariots found west of the First Emperor's tomb — artifacts believed to serve as spirit vehicles for his journey to heaven.

This exhibition is jointly organized by the Shaanxi Provincial Cultural Heritage Administration, Shaanxi Cultural Heritage Promotion Center, and Emperor Qin Shi Huang's Mausoleum Site Museum of the People's Republic of China, and Bowers Museum in the United States.

FUELING A CREATIVE MINDSET SMALL MOMENTS LEAVE A LASTING IMPACT

Perhaps unsurprisingly, many people believe they aren't creative.

They say, "I can't draw," or "I don't have a creative bone in my body." However, creativity isn't about perfecting an art technique or spending time in formal training. It's about expression, curiosity and the courage to explore. It's about seeing the world not just as it is, but as it could be. In fact, the biggest barrier to creativity isn't lack of talent, it's the reluctance to claim it as your own.

To that end, Crayola wants to broaden traditional views about what creativity is and how it shows up in the world. Creative superpowers shine when you solve problems, tell stories, build things and connect ideas. In other words, creativity isn't just for artists.

It's about engaging in simple, everyday creative moments that help unlock a mindset useful for navigating personal and professional demands, as well as managing life's unexpected challenges.

In an effort to redefine what it means to be creative, Crayola's Campaign for Creativity is challenging narrow definitions and highlighting the benefits of this critical skill that fuels lifelong growth. By shifting the focus from perfection to possibilities, the campaign empowers everyone, regardless of age or ability, to put imagination into action. This opens the door to new ways of expressing creativity, and one of the most powerful and accessible forms of expression is color.

According to a Color Perception Survey conducted by Crayola in partnership with the Ad Council Research Institute, color isn't just decoration – it can be a catalyst to spark emotion, fuel imagination and deepen creative expression. In fact, 87% of those surveyed say color impacts their creativity and 69% link specific colors to moods and emotions. This evidence supports that color is deeply personal, connecting people to their emotions and memories, and helping creatively express their feelings, thoughts and ideas.

To help tap into your own creative superpowers, consider these colorful ideas to get started.

Use Color

Multiple bodies of research affirm the interconnected relationships between color, sound and creativity. Specific colors and sounds can stimulate creativity, and their interaction can enhance creative processes. While the specific impact of color varies for everyone, it's clear color can affect moods or reflect inner feelings.

For example, you might associate blue with a sense of calm while others with sadness; red can evoke feelings of energy and celebration or fear. Incorporating colorful elements into your creations – from fashion and decor to workplace presentations and weekend projects – can bring your ideas to life, showcase your unique perspective, amplify your message and inspire connections with others.

Creating by Hand

Whether through journaling, scrapbooking or coloring, creating by hand offers an immersive and meaningful experience. Research shows these activities can engage multiple areas of the brain, supporting memory, understanding and creativity. Coloring, in particular, is a timeless act of self-expression – from childhood scribbles to adult stress relief – that invites you to slow down, reflect and connect with your emotions.

Try a New Recipe

There's no more practical outlet for creativity than in the kitchen where you can concoct new dishes that nourish your body and mind. Whether your goal is to put a novel flair on a familiar dish or stir some variety into your family's routine menu, experimenting in the kitchen is a terrific way to infuse creativity and a splash of color into your cooking.

Get Outside

Spending time in nature isn't just good for your body and mind; it's a powerful way to recharge your creativity. Natural environments are full of expressive color palettes, from the deep greens of forest canopies to the vibrant hues of wildflowers and sunsets.

Research shows being outdoors can sharpen focus, reduce stress and even improve sleep. Beyond the science, nature invites you to observe, imagine and create. Try sketching a sunset, capturing the textures of leaves or using found objects to spark a new idea. Whether you're walking through a park or sitting in your backyard, the colors and sounds of the outdoors can fuel your next creative moment.

LAGUNA DANCE UNVEILS BOLD SEASON OF INNOVATION, INTIMACY, AND CELEBRATION

Laguna Dance, Southern California’s celebrated presenter of world-class dance and education, today announced its 2025/2026 season. This year’s program brings together immersive performances, community connections, and intimate experiences designed to celebrate the power of movement in all its forms.

On the heels of its 20th anniversary season, which marked two decades of presenting dance in Southern California, Laguna Dance is building on its legacy with a forward-looking program. The 2025-26 season continues the nonprofit’s tradition of curating innovative performances while honoring the community connections that have defined the festival since its founding in 2005.

The season kicks off October 2, with First Thursdays Art Walk- Laguna Beach’s beloved monthly community gathering where art galleries, museums, and local venues open their doors to the public. Laguna Dance adds an extraordinary dimension by presenting live performances in these creative spaces, offering audiences the rare chance to see professional dancers up close and free of charge.

From there, the season moves into a series of carefully curated events and performances, beginning with Thriller: A Cinematic Soirée on October 17, a spine-tingling evening at the Rivian South Coast Theater featuring dance, film, food, and community in celebration of Michael Jackson’s legendary music video. Audiences will experience live performances, learn legendary Thriller choreography, and enjoy a cinematic tribute in Laguna’s historic theater.

On November 7, Laguna Dance will join forces with the Laguna Art Museum for its 13th Annual Art + Nature festival, an event that explores the synergy between artistic expression and environmental awareness. Featuring the evocative work of Ana Teresa Fernández, the collaboration will include a site-specific performance choreographed by Artistic Director Jodie Gates on Main Beach. With dancers from across Orange County and Los Angeles, the piece will transform the oceanfront into a living canvas where movement and nature converge.

In early 2026, Laguna Dance will partner with the Laguna Art Museum for The Nature of Dance on January 24. The one-night program offers audiences a rare opportunity to witness the creation of new choreography in real time as dancers, musicians, and artists collaborate in an intimate setting.

The cornerstone event, the Laguna Dance Festival: Love Letters, runs February 13–15 at the Laguna Playhouse. Each evening features a different program: Dayton Contemporary Dance Company on Feb. 13; Heart 2 Heart: An Evening of Duets on Feb. 14; and Sunday Funday: The Best of SoCal Dance on Feb. 15.

For the first time in Laguna Beach, Laguna Dance is honored to present Dayton Contemporary Dance Company (DCDC)—an internationally acclaimed ensemble with more than 50 years of history. Founded to preserve and celebrate the African American experience in dance, DCDC is renowned for telling powerful stories through movement. Their Laguna Beach debut will feature a richly diverse repertory, ranging from the groundbreaking hip-hop choreography of Rennie Harris to the timeless modern dance of Paul Taylor.

As part of the festival weekend, Laguna Dance will host a free backstage event on February 12 featuring DCDC. This unique opportunity invites audiences to witness the behind-the-scenes process of a professional dance company, offering an authentic glimpse into the artistry and discipline that bring a production to life.

On Valentine’s Day, Laguna Dance will also host Heart 2 Heart, billed as its most romantic event of the year. The evening pairs duets with wine, champagne, and an exclusive onstage after-party for VIP ticket holders.

The season closes May 31 with the Annual Gala and Fundraiser at the Surf & Sand Resort. An evening of dining, live performances, and celebration will benefit Laguna Dance’s scholarship and education programs.

“Laguna Dance is entering such an exciting phase, and I feel so proud of the role we play as a pillar of the arts in our community,” said Jodie Gates, artistic director and founder of Laguna Dance. “Dance, to me, is magic — and this season is full of it. We’ll kick things off with Art Walk, and a collaboration with LAM that blends dance with Art + Nature. I can’t wait to see families light up at our ‘Thriller’ workshop and performance at Rivian. Then in February, ‘Love Letters’ with the Dayton Contemporary Dance Company takes the stage at Laguna Playhouse — just in time for Valentine’s Day, alongside our romantic ‘Heart 2 Heart’ celebration. Each of these moments is different, but all are tied together by the joy and connection that dance brings. I’m overjoyed to share this journey and much more with our community.”

Education continues to be a core part of Laguna Dance’s mission. In its most ambitious initiative to date, Laguna Dance is partnering with the Laguna Beach Unified School District for the first time in its history to bring the joy of dance directly into the classroom. Beginning in the second half of the 2025–2026 school year, Founder & Artistic Director Jodie Gates and Artistic Associate Krystal Matsuyama-Tsai will lead movement classes for second graders, nurturing creativity, self-expression, and body awareness. The program will culminate in a backstage experience at the 21st Annual Laguna Dance Main Stage Festival, where students will connect with world-class guest artists and see the magic of live performance up close.

Laguna Dance will also continue to award scholarships, host master classes, and offer pre-show talks throughout the season, further strengthening its role as a leader in community-centered arts education.

6 MORNING HABITS TO GET YOUR HEART HEALTH OFF TO A GOOD START

Every day is a good day to invest in your heart health! Your heart works hard every day, so it is important to support your health with healthy morning habits. Check out these six healthy habits that not only help you maintain a strong heart and circulation but also help set the tone for the rest of your day.

1. Drink water

Keep a glass of water or water bottle on your nightstand so you can take a sip as soon as you wake up. Overnight, your body becomes dehydrated. It's important to replenish the water you've lost first thing in the morning to help your body do its job. Staying hydrated supports healthy circulation and helps deliver oxygen and nutrients throughout your body so you can feel your best as you start your day.

2. Brush your teeth

Did you know oral health is linked to heart health? Protect your heart health by maintaining a consistent brushing schedule, which in turn supports blood and arterial health.

The best time to brush your teeth in the morning is when you first wake up. Brushing kick-starts your saliva production, which protects your teeth and gums by washing away food debris. Also, if you eat acidic breakfast food, brushing your teeth before breakfast rather than after can be incredibly beneficial.

3. Meditate

You can practice meditation any time, but spending a few moments alone every morning can focus your mind for the day ahead and help your heart. A calm, focused mind can reduce everyday worries, which can help promote healthy blood pressure and heart function.

Whether you listen to music, write in your journal, do yoga or practice deep breathing, just five minutes of meditation each day can support your body's ability to manage everyday stress and support healthy blood pressure and circulation.

4. Get moving

Cardiovascular exercise is critical to maintaining a happy, healthy heart. It also helps regulate your metabolism and appetite, provides healthy energy, and can support healthy weight management.

If you want to get into the habit of exercising every day, aim for 30 minutes of cardio in the morning. Mornings tend to have fewer distractions than other times of the day, making the start of your day the ideal time to exercise.

One of the easiest ways to get exercise is to lace up your shoes and take a brisk walk. Others may have a favorite workout video or online exercise class, either live or recorded.

Even if you can't commit to a half-hour of exercise every day, do what you can to get your body moving. As little as five minutes of exercise will provide heart health benefits if you are not feeling very fit.

5. Eat a nutrient-rich breakfast

Diet is one of the most important lifestyle factors influencing heart health, so pay attention to your breakfast choices. A breakfast smoothie is a great way to take in fruits and vegetables that will provide you with essential vitamins and minerals to support optimal heart health.

6. Give your cardiovascular health a boost

Give your heart a helping hand by taking heart-supporting supplements made from naturally sourced ingredients like CholestMD®. This heart health product provides cholesterol support and overall cardiovascular health with two potent ingredients, Bergavit™ bergamot extract and niacin. Both ingredients have been clinically studied and found to support healthy blood cholesterol and triglyceride levels. The formula also includes olive leaf and garlic bulb extract, which provide additional blood lipid and arterial health support.

Your best heart health starts with a good morning. These six heart-healthy habits can help you create a good morning routine to get your heart and overall health ready to take on today and beyond. To read reviews of CholestMD® from consumers just like you, visit 1MD.org. - (BPT)

SHUCKED: THE MUSICAL IS COMING TO COSTA MESA!

Every so often, you visit a winery where the experience transcends the tasting notes, a place where passion, hospitality, and family seamlessly converge. That was the case when Frank and I visited Burtech Family Vineyard Winery in Vista, where we were treated like royalty during a leisurely tasting of eleven wines paired with three delicious pizzas, a salad, and their irresistible smash burger.

The Burtech name has long been known in North County, from Burtech Pipeline to their Caballos Del Mar equestrian ranch in Encinitas. The family's newest legacy unfolds in the world of wine. Their Encinitas vineyard, a scenic 3.5 acres planted with Pinot Noir, Cabernet Sauvignon, Syrah, and Chardonnay, sits on their twelve-acre property that captures coastal breezes and golden sunsets.

In Vista, 300 Petite Sirah vines encircle the winery, 40 at the entrance and 260 wrapping the building, creating a beautiful frame for the property. Opened in August 2022, the Vista location serves as Burtech's production hub and tasting room. Under the leadership of Winemaker Drew Damskey and Assistant Winemaker Bryn Wilson, the team blends education, artistry, and science. Damskey, who studied viticulture at Kenyon College in Sonoma, began with his family's own winery before consulting and eventually joining Burtech. Wilson, a UC Davis graduate, brings refined precision and a deep respect for terroir.

In addition to fruit from their Encinitas vineyard and trusted Sonoma growers, Burtech replanted most of their 9.5 acre estate in Sonoma this year. Initially all Merlot, 90 percent of the vineyard has been replaced with Grenache, Cabernet Sauvignon, Mourvèdre, Tempranillo, Cabernet Franc, Syrah, and Sauvignon Blanc on existing Merlot rootstock. The first wines from these new plantings are expected next year in 2026, with full yields in 2028.

Initially a piping warehouse, the Burtechs converted part of the warehouse to their winery production facility. The other interior space was completely reimagined into their contemporary tasting haven. Today, guests can enjoy both indoor and outdoor seating, a dog-friendly environment, and live music every Saturday, plus alternating Fridays and Sundays.

Frank and I began with three whites that immediately showed the winery's finesse and versatility. The 2023 Sauvignon Blanc from Redwood Valley was bright and zesty, delivering a crisp mix of passion fruit, green apple, and Meyer lemon. The 2022 Julie Chardonnay (named for co-owner Julie Burtech) sourced with Sangiacomo Vineyard fruit from Carneros showcased elegance with pear, lychee, and baked apple pie aromas that carry into the tasting notes. The 2021 Maile Rosé, dedicated to the Burtechs' daughter and inspired by the family's Hawaiian heritage, charmed with watermelon, stone fruit, and delicate floral notes.

As we transitioned to reds, the culinary pairings began arriving, starting with the Harvest Salad, a vibrant mix of spring greens, apples, dried cranberries, goat cheese, nuts, and Julie's balsamic vinaigrette. Alongside came the Blanca Pizza, a white-sauce beauty with ricotta, mozzarella, lemon, olive oil, herbs, truffle oil, and hot honey, enhanced by Dominic's suggestion to add sausage. It was the perfect bridge to the 2022 Sonoma Coast Pinot Noir, which melded raspberry, incense, and cherry on the nose, and juicy red fruits with notes of hibiscus, strawberry, and sweet spices, complemented by forest floor and blood orange peel on the palate.

The 2022 Tempranillo (Russian River Valley) surprised us—light-bodied yet deceptively rich, with pomegranate, violets, and warm spice. Next up was the 2022 Cabernet Franc, layered with cassis, tobacco, and graphite, followed by the 2019 Bordeaux Blend from Sonoma Mountain, one of my favorites of the day. Dominated by Merlot, the Bordeaux offered lush dark fruit, clove, and caramel on the palate with silky tannins.

Then came the piled-high The Papa B pizza, Dominic's own creation featuring tomato sauce, mozzarella, fontina, pepperoni, jalapeños, and onions, an ideal match for the 2022 Old Vine Zinfandel from Alexander Valley. This field blend of Zinfandel, Muscat, and Palomino delivered spice, lavender, and berry brightness and is based on the Burtech family's preferences. Shortly after, The Buddy pizza, named after the Burtechs' bulldog, with bacon, onion, mushroom, mozzarella, and tomato sauce landed on our table.

We closed our culinary crescendo with Chef Horacio Rodriguez's double-patty smash burger, stacked high with cheddar, lettuce, tomato, onion, and Julie's secret sauce. Rich and juicy, it harmonized with the final trio: the 2020 Napa Cabernet Sauvignon, 2020 Sonoma Valley Merlot, and the powerhouse 2023 Dry Creek Petite Sirah. The Cabernet Sauvignon delivered layers of dark cherry and blackberry accented by hints of cocoa and spice, finishing smooth and refined. The Merlot offered supple plum and blueberry flavors wrapped in soft tannins and balanced acidity. The Petite Sirah, bold yet balanced, wrapped the experience in dark fruit, licorice, and violet—a fitting finale to an extraordinary afternoon.

From the moment we arrived, Sara Swerdlin (Special Events Coordinator), Bryn Wilson, and Logan MacKenzie (Wine Host) made us feel like family, ensuring every pour and plate was perfectly timed. Throughout our visit, owner Dominic Burtech stopped by to chat and check in, an authentic touch that embodied the warmth of this family-run winery.

At Burtech Family Vineyard, you don't just taste wine, you taste passion, community, and craftsmanship rooted in North County San Diego pride. With their eye on the future and hearts firmly grounded in family, Dominic and Julie Burtech have created more than a winery. They have built a destination where great wine meets genuine connection.

Burtech Family Vineyard Winery is open for tastings, light bites, and live music. Reservations are recommended for weekends. Their BFV Club offers additional perks for members, such as a 15 percent discount on all wines, one complimentary glass for the member and a guest each week, and priority access to new releases and estate wines. Details about the club and more info on BFV can be found at burtechfamilyvineyard.com.

DOVE DASH GOES TO THE DOGS - LITERALLY!

Dove Canyon was wide awake early Saturday morning, as more than 500 runners, walkers, families, and, for the first time ever, their four-legged sidekicks flooded the streets for the 25th Annual Dove Dash benefiting High Hopes Head Injury Program. The weather was crisp, the energy contagious, and the community spirit undeniable. If the competitive runners didn't make you cheer, the dogs in race bibs certainly did.

The Dove Dash has long been one of South Orange County's most beloved traditions, bringing people together to raise scholarship funds for individuals recovering from traumatic brain injuries. But this milestone year introduced a brand-new feature: the Dog Dash. And let's say, tails wagged, cameras flashed, and the crowd fell in love.

High Hopes Founder and Director Mark Desmond said this year felt "especially meaningful" with the addition of dogs uniting with runners and families in support of survivors. "This event is more than a race, it's a celebration of hope," Desmond said. "Every step taken today helps someone fighting their way back from a traumatic brain injury. Seeing runners, families, and now even dogs come together with so much joy reminds us why we never give up on anyone's recovery." His gratitude for the sponsors, volunteers, and participants could be felt everywhere, from the warm welcome at check-in to the applause at the awards ceremony.

The morning kicked off with a fun group warm-up, but one of the true highlights came in the form of a powerhouse voice: 10-year-old Brooklyn Lysek of Rancho Santa Margarita. Brooklyn sang the National Anthem not once, but four times, before the 5K, the Family 1K, the Dog Dash, and again to open the awards program. Each performance drew cheers and became a defining moment of the day. Talk about vocal stamina and star potential.

Emcee Chip McAllister, a former Amazing Race winner and longtime supporter of High Hopes, kept the event moving smoothly with his signature humor and heart. Whether he was hyping up runners or congratulating finishers, his enthusiasm never wavered.

The 5K featured competitive athletes alongside stroller-pushers and first-timers. In the Men's Division, John Gardner of Coto de Caza took first place, followed by Raymond Gomez of Rancho Santa Margarita and Chris McDonald of Lake Forest. The Women's Division saw Andi Aguilar of Aliso Viejo in first, Jessie White of Newport Beach in second, and Maria Perfetto of Trabuco Canyon in third.

And then came the furry fan-favorite: the Dog Dash. Blue, an energetic Chihuahua mix racing with Ben Deutsch of Santa Ana, claimed first place. Tuesday, a Terrier-Chihuahua mix with Alyssa Rodriguez of Santa Ana, took second. Third place went to Poppy the Corgi and Max Rathburn of Trabuco Canyon, while Gus the Pug and Marissa Rathburn finished fourth. Let's just be honest, the dogs may have stolen the show.

Team spirit was alive and well, with ARB winning both the Largest Team Award and the Fastest Team Award, an impressive double victory.

After crossing the finish line, participants headed straight for one of the most beloved Dove Dash traditions: the pancake breakfast. Fluffy pancakes, sausage, fresh fruit, and juice were served hot, thanks in part to support from Albertsons. It was the kind of post-race reward that kept everyone smiling (and coming back for seconds).

Families then made their way to the Mutual of Omaha petting zoo, which was far more adventurous than your average petting corral. This year featured a giant ball python, an alligator, a Great Horned Owl, and a hawk. Kids shrieked with excitement, parents snapped photos, and everyone got an up-close look at some truly wild guests.

Beyond the fun, the heart of this event runs deep. The Dove Dash was created to support High Hopes' Scholarship Program, which provides access to critical rehabilitation for brain injury survivors. Its impact has been strengthened through a long-standing partnership with Ryan's Reach, founded by the family of music legend Pat Boone after his grandson, Ryan Corbin, suffered a severe brain injury in 2001. Inspired by Ryan's recovery, his mother, Lindy Michaelis, launched the nonprofit to help other families in need. The Boone family remains actively involved, keeping this event rooted in purpose and legacy.

The list of sponsors reflects a strong community commitment: RSM Christian School, Ryan's Reach, 9 Round Kickboxing, Camp Opie Dog Daycare, Bullock Russell Real Estate, Club Pilates, Donate Life, High Hopes, Mac Home Builders, Mutual of Omaha, One Legacy, NeuroRestorative Care, and AMD Dezigns. Without their support and the dedication of countless volunteers, the Dove Dash wouldn't be the beloved tradition it is today.

As the sun rose higher and the final medals were handed out, the smiles lingered. Whether you raced, walked, cheered, or held a leash, you were part of something special. The Dove Dash once again proved that this community doesn't just show up, it shows up big, with heart, laughter, and a whole lot of wagging tails.

And now that dogs have officially joined the party, there is no going back. The Dove Dash has gone to the dogs, and we absolutely love it.

KEEP YOUR HOME OFFICE ORGANIZED FOR INCREASED PRODUCTIVITY

When temperatures creep up again, it signals time for an annual tradition: spring cleaning. While big projects like windows are hard to overlook, don't forget smaller areas that need attention, too, such as your home office.

Making sense of a year's worth of paperwork and clutter can take some serious time, especially as many people have been working from home more than normal, but getting organized can help you tackle home management tasks more efficiently. Making the office a priority can reduce frustration when it comes to spending additional time in your office while working from home.

These five tips can help get you started: Make sure you have furniture that can adequately store your stuff, including plenty of space for files, reference books and computer equipment. Pieces need not be costly to be functional and there are plenty of attractive options available online and at both small and major retailers.

Arrange the space with its intended use and your own work style in mind. For example, if you don't need ample space to spread out over a large, flat work area, eliminate that space – it's simply an invitation for clutter.

Place items you rely on frequently, such as a calculator or ruler, within arm's reach so they can easily be put away between uses. Capture these items in containers and bins to keep the space looking neat and free of clutter.

Establish a filing system that lets you keep track of important papers you need to keep and have a shredder handy to help you discard any sensitive documents. Whether you alphabetize, color code or use some other method, group paperwork into segments for categories such as bills, banking, health care, auto, insurance and so on for easy access in the future.

Tangled cords can make even the most organized spaces look messy, and they may pose a fire or tripping hazard. Get control of your cords by storing devices you don't use regularly and securing the remaining cords with twist ties or clips. Remember to use a surge-protected power strip to minimize the chance of damage should a power surge occur.

FESTIVAL OF ARTS DEBUTS NEW OFF-SITE EXHIBIT AT FOASOUTH

The Festival of Arts of Laguna Beach is pleased to announce the opening of its latest off-site exhibition at foaSouth, Magical Moments: Suspensions of Time, on view now through January 12, 2026. The gallery, located inside Active Culture at 1006 S. Coast Hwy., Laguna Beach, CA 92651, is free and open to the public daily from 9am to 8pm.

Magical Moments: Suspensions of Time investigates how still life and landscape genres can reframe everyday subjects into experiences that feel dreamlike, meditative, and timeless. Through realistic representations of objects and scenes, this exhibition highlights how the familiar can be transformed into something extraordinary, offering viewers moments of pause where the ordinary becomes otherworldly.

"The creation of images has evolved far beyond documentation, it's about capturing a feeling or an experience," said exhibition curator Morgan Matthews. "With Magical Moments, we hope visitors will slow down, reflect, and discover how these realistic depictions of familiar scenes can create emotional connections that feel almost suspended in time. We invite everyone to take the opportunity to experience these works firsthand during the run of the exhibition."

The exhibition features works by Festival of Arts exhibitors and selections from the Festival's Permanent Art Collection. Highlights include Robert A. Hansen's "Mayan Vendors from Yucatan Passages Portfolio" (1994–2004) and "Winter Fog from Yucatan Passages Portfolio" (1994–2004); Sharon Hutchison's "Arise" (2023) and "Veiled Light" (2023); Elizabeth McGhee's "On the Rag" (2018) and "Tiny Tears" (2023); and David Milton's "An American Flag in New England" (2013) and "Hollywood and Vine" (2023). Additional works on display include Michael Ward's "Absorb" (2021) and "Moving Day" (2019); Marc Whitney's "Teacup" (c. 1996); and Michaela Yoro's "Brian and Friends" (2022) and "Trader Joe's Run" (2023).

The public is invited to a special artist reception on Thursday, November 6, 2025, as part of First Thursdays Art Walk. Attendees can meet the artists, explore the exhibition, and enjoy an evening celebrating creativity and community.

The foaSouth gallery is part of the Festival's commitment to providing year-round art experiences for the public. As a nonprofit organization, the Festival of Arts supports the arts in and about Laguna Beach through exhibitions,

Directory Advertising Hits the Jackpot for Small Business with a Limited Ad Budget $49.95

"I'm not a big business, but I know that you have to advertise someplace and these little ads don't cost too much so I figure if you expect to get any new customers, I gave the little 'directory' ads in the newspaper a try. Nothing happened for the first week, not even a phone call. Then Boom! comes three new customers. Paid for my little ads and a nice profit. I'd say I hit the jackpot. Sign me up for another week newspaper ladies!"

The above story may not be exciting but is typical of advertisers who are shopping for advertising that is affordable but gives them something back for their money. Here's another:

As a Woman Who Owns A Small Business These Newspaper Directory Ads are a Great Value

"We women have to work harder to make a small business grow. Thanks to small, affordable ads in this newspaper I've got ads running every week. Every call helps my business grow. I give you an A+ for good prices and steady results."

Looking for the Penny Saver in all the Wrong Places

"I Used to get pretty good results from the Penny Saver, but when the Penny Saver closed up, I found this newspaper's little directory ads are even cheaper and work just about as good. Usually get two or three calls a month and most of them wind up being my customers. My bookkeeper says your directory ads work pretty good for the money"

Newspaper Directory Ads Worked Just Fine, Cost Less than Half!- Nice!

" We tried some slick magazine ads that had beautiful pictures on the cover and they worked real good for a while but they were costing us an arm and a leg so we tried these little directory ads in your newspaper .The ads are smaller, but cost way less than half of what we were paying the magazines and the newspaper directory ads seem to work about as well. We are glad we tried them. They are a pretty good deal for the low price."

New Business Owner Likes Lower Priced Ads

" I Just Started my New Business and Happy that I Can Afford Your Newspaper Directory Ads.I need to attract new customers and these ads are priced just right."

MONTECITO: WHERE THE CELEBRITIES LIVE IS LISTED FOR $27 MILLION

One reason why Montecito has become Southern California's hot spot for celebrity homes, including Oprah, Ariana Grande, Gwyneth Paltrow, Adam Levine, Prince Harry and Meghan Markle, is the climate. Its proximity to the Pacific Ocean moderates temperatures, resulting in mild conditions throughout the year, with daytime highs usually in the 60s and 70s. Good weather for celebrities and even better for the area's wide variety of trees and flowers. The mild Mediterranean climate is perfect for a wide variety of flora to thrive. Early in the 20th century, botanists and landscapers imported a variety of rare and exotic plants, which have formed the basis for the area's gardens. Many of the large estates and properties are known for their meticulously maintained and elaborate gardens with roses, lavender, hydrangeas, and camellias. And trees, including ancient oaks, palms, and cypress, thrive and provide a beautiful, shaded landscape. One of Montecito's prettiest properties, abundant with flowers and fruit trees, has hit the market for $27 million. Formerly the home of Marcus Lemonis of FOX-TV's The Fixer, the property is situated in Montecito's private, most exclusive and highly sought-after Ennisbrook neighborhood, where many of the celebrities live. Ennisbrook is where Kendall Jenner recently acquired Ellen DeGeneres's 6-acre equestrian estate for $23 million. The epitome of California gracious living, the contemporary home spans 8,847 square feet with five bedrooms and eight bathrooms on over two acres of meticulously landscaped grounds with ocean and mountain views. The home has several outdoor fireplaces and fire pits, along with a tennis court, bocce ball, pool, spa, and fruit trees, including lemon, orange, tangerine, plum, and peach. The home is listed with Patrice Serrani from Compass. Photo credit: Roy Hathon and Blake Bromstadt
